EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Important to War Editors

NEWBERN, N. C., Jan 26.—A floating spar was discovered to-day near the beach. It is supposed to be the upper portion of the mast of the Virginius, which has been visible since her sinking. People in great crowds were soon on the beach, and the greatest excitement prevailed on the spar being beached by the surf. It was carefully distributed among the many relic hunters present.

Schooner Capsized—Three Lives Lost.

BOSTON, Jan 26.—Yesterday afternoon during a heavy squall the schooner Franklin Rogers capsized ten miles east of Boston Light and sunk in three minutes. Captain Rogers and two of the crew were lost.

Almost a Fearful Calamity.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan 26.—The Grammar School building connected with Bishop's College, at Lennoxville, Canada, was burned this morning. The boys narrowly escaped with their lives. Loss, $55,000.

Jeff. Davis Makes Public His Opinion of Henry S. Foote, and Dubs Him "A Constitutional Liar."

CHICAGO, Jan 26.—The criticisms of ex-Governor H. S. Foote, of Mississippi, on Jefferson Davis continuing to be quite annoying, a friend of the latter wrote to him calling his attention to the matter. Davis made the following reply, which is now given to the public:

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 25, 1873.

Dear Sir: Yours of the 20th instant is to hand. I have not seen any of the articles which you inform me H. S. Foote has written in abuse of me, nor have I any desire to read whatever he might write. In the year of 1871 I published him as constitutionally a liar, and his subsequent career only served to confirm me in that judgment. Since that date, therefore, I have taken no heed of the utterance of Foote. His flattery when he was seeking political preferment in the Confederacy, and his abuse when faithless to his trust as a representative in the Congress of the Confederate States, when preparing for his subsequent desertion to their enemies, were alike disregarded by me. You are at liberty to use this as you think proper.

I remain respectfully and truly yours,
JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Earthquake in Massachusetts.

LOWELL, Jan 26.—Citizens of Chelmsford report a shock of earthquake which shook buildings yesterday noon, causing considerable alarm.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Plan to Relieve a Distressed Railway Corporation.

WASHINGTON, Jan 24.—The plan of relief for the Southern Pacific Railroad, which will soon be introduced in Congress, is briefly as follows: All land of the Company to be sold by a Commissioner appointed under the authority of the United States, and the proceeds to be placed in the Treasury to the credit of the Company, the Government to retain the amount charged for the transportation of mails and all carrying service. The Company ask the United States to guarantee the interest on five per cent. bonds running for thirty years, to a limited sum per mile, and in consideration of such accommodation the Company propose to pay the Government a liberable percentage on the gross earnings, and thus save Government from loss.

Postal Changes for the Pacific Coast.

WASHINGTON, Jan 24.—The following postal changes have been ordered during the week on the Pacific coast:

Offices established—Whatcom, Whatcom county, W. T., Joseph Powers Postmaster; Fort Wrangle, Alaska Territory, William King Lear, Postmaster.

Postmasters appointed—J. H. Moster, Colfax, Whatcom county, W. T.; Jos. Clark, Columbus, Klickitat county, W. T.; Edwin K. Huntington, Monticello, Cowlitz county, W. T.; Stephen C. Day, Patahah Prairie, Walla Walla county, W. T.; William Field, Pioneer, Clarke county, W. T.; Z. Wyllye, Sharon, Chehalis county, W. T.; Alex. P. King, Slaughter, King county, W. T.; William Moore, Walker's Prairie, Stevens county, W. T.

President Grant Takes a Whack at a Party by the Name of Kellogg.

WASHINGTON, Jan 26.—The President is preparing a message which he will send to the Senate after submitting it to the Cabinet, in which he will make a plain but elaborate statement of facts in connection with federal proceedings in Louisiana in support of the United States Courts. The President is opposed to any legislation by Congress ordering a new election in Louisiana, although he has no hesitation in saying that there is no doubt that the late election was an organized fraud from beginning to end for the benefit of those now in possession of the Government of that State, and that there has not yet been a fair count of votes, that the pretended result has been reached by dishonest means too well known to be repeated. Still it is his opinion, as privately expressed recently, that Congress has no more right to order a new election in Louisiana than it has in any other State because of local conflict, all the States now being on an equal status in the Union, and entitled to the same general protection from illegal or unconstitutional interference by any branch of the Federal Government as they are against invasion.

Prospective Adjournment of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan 26.—Congressmen are already beginning to speculate concerning the possibility of an adjournment on May 1st. They argue that now that the House has assumed such a position as regards retrenchment no bills taking money from the Treasury can possibly command attention from Congress at this session except ordinary appropriation bills.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Reported Carlist Victory.

BAYONNE, Jan 23.—The Carlists report that Santander and Portugalete surrendered unconditionally to their forces on the 22d, and that the entire Sigovia battalion, a number of artillerymen and engineers, 1,220 Remington and 100 Minie rifles and two cannon fell into their hands.

MADRID, Jan 25.—Admiral Topete has returned from Cartagena and resumed his duties as Minister of Marine.

Publication of the Ignatulad newspaper has been again suspended for one month.

Disraeli on Gladstone.

LONDON, Jan 26.—Disraeli, in an address to his constituents in Birmingham seeking re-election, strongly condemns the course of the Government and charges Gladstone with having violated constitutional law by persisting for several months in the occupation of an office which he was no longer entitled to, and with inaugurating the Ashantee war without communicating with Parliament, for which the Premier is severely denounced. Disraeli says he finds nothing definite in Gladstone's address regarding his policy, except that he intends to apply a large surplus to a remission of taxation, which would be the course of any ministry.

Rumored Death of Dr. Livingstone.

Intelligence has just been received of the death of Dr. Livingstone in the interior of Africa. He died of dysentery while traveling from Lake Bembe to Unjanyambe. His body has been embalmed and is being conveyed to England by way of Zanzibar.

AN OLD ANECDOTE.—Rabelais was once chosen to represent the university on a mission to the government at Paris, where he was to plead their cause before the Chancellor Duprat, in the matter of certain of their privileges. The Chancellor refused him a hearing, but the story goes that Rabelais adopted the following singular mode of procuring an audience: clothing himself in a long green dress with hanging sleeves, with spectacles on his nose, a steeple hat of outlandish shape, and a huge ink horn fastened to his girdle, he paraded in front of the residence of the Chancellor. His eccentric costume very soon collected a crowd, and their cries and laughter brought the Chancellor to his window. Duprat was a man who loved such characters as Rabelais; he was himself a patron of men of wit and learning, and liked to have them about him. He called out to know who he was. "I am," answered Rabelais, "a skinner of calves." Duprat's curiosity was aroused; he sent a page to make further inquiry. Rabelais answered him in Latin. The page came for some one who knew Latin, and Rabelais spoke Greek to him; to a third messenger who could speak Greek he replied in Hebrew; to a fourth in Spanish; then in Italian, and so on, using a fresh language to each new emissary, till finally Duprat had him brought into his own presence. The tradition goes on to say that he used his opportunity of gaining the Chancellor's good graces with such effect that he won him over to grant the petition of the university.

ARREST AND RELEASE OF THE MAYOR OF AUSTIN.—AUSTIN, TEXAS, Jan [illegible].—There was great excitement here this evening over the arrest of the Mayor by Gov. Davis. The [illegible] and 100 citizens rallied to the call [illegible] by the Sheriff, who came to the rescue of the Mayor, and for a time trouble seemed imminent, but Gov. Davis informed the Sheriff that the arrest was a mistake and had him released. Subsequently all the troops on both sides disbanded, causing great rejoicing.

The Governor of Washington Territory has appointed Rev. Daniel Bagley a regent of the Territorial University, vice Hon. A. A. Denny, resigned.

It is said that but little more wheat remains unsold in Washington county.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 26.—Chief of Police Cockrill is reported better to-day, but he is not yet out of danger and visitors are still excluded.

The attacks by the Alta upon County Clerk Wm. Harney have caused much feeling, and his friends as well as the officer himself demand a full investigation. The Alta boldly charges that he has received during his term of office thus far about $24,000 for which he has given no account. Those who know him best discredit all the charges made against him. It is probable an investigation will be ordered.

Greenbacks, 90@90½.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 26.—The trial of Chas. Kinsey, Nancy, his wife, W. Dow Alexander and Michael McLean for the murder of Harvey Green at Pescadero, has been commenced and still pending in the Twelfth District Court before a jury.

Judge Sawyer, of the U. S. Circuit Court, has decided that assessments for taxes against the Central Pacific Railroad, in Placer, Nevada, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Alameda and Santa Clara were not properly made and are void for that reason.

The sailing of the China steamer has been deferred till February 2d.

The McGregor for Australia will sail next Saturday.

A jury was obtained in the Fifteenth District Court this afternoon for the trial of Robert Manning, indicted for the murder of Wong Long Tuck in May last.

The receipts of the California Theater since the commencement of Boucicault's engagement have amounted to over $41,000.

The annual meetings of the Belcher and Raymond Mining Companies will be held to-morrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 26.—To night on board the steamer McGregor an accident occurred which will prove fatal to the fourth assistant engineer of that vessel. His name cannot now be learned. A party of gentlemen were on board, and one of them was showing a revolver to a friend, when it was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through the engineer's body. He was removed to the hospital.

The case of Scannell vs. Whitney, contest for the office of Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, was postponed to night for two weeks to obtain the affidavit of John Rosenfeld, who is in Oregon.

The Board of Supervisors to night had the watch tower service on Masonic Temple abolished. The Committee on Amendments introduced a proposition for the authority of this city to issue a million and a half of revenue bonds, $250,000 of which amount is to be expended for stone pavements in the city.

Interior California.

PLACERVILLE, Jan 26.—A serious and probably a fatal accident occurred in the Rose quartz mine in this place to day. Levi Shepard, while superintending workmen, was caved upon, injuring his head, arm and back.

STOCKTON, Jan 26.—This afternoon Benj. Cooke, teamster, got into an altercation with Chas. Swenson, at the cemetery. It appears that Cooke attempted to drive through the cemetery grounds and was ordered to turn his team, which he declined doing and drove on to the second gate. He was there overtaken by Swenson and a fight ensued, when other employes interfered. Cooke says he finally compromised by turning the team, when a lad came along with a shot-gun, which was picked up by Swenson, who presenting it at Cooke, exclaimed, "I'll have a pop at you, anyhow," and fired, the charge taking effect in the right arm, shattering the large bone of the arm in a shocking manner. It is feared that amputation will be necessary. Swenson was arrested this evening.

OREGON.

Jackson county has two Granges in successful operation. The Order appears to be growing rapidly.

A small building occupied by students near the Academy at Ashland was burned down on the 23d inst. The loss was about $250.

Chas. Baer was seriously injured by a caving bank on the Coyote creek, in Jackson county, on the 16th instant, while engaged in mining.

We are informed by a gentleman from Greenville, Washington county, that the snow is about six inches deep on a level at that place.

A Reading and Chess Club has been organized at Jacksonville, with F. D. Toudray, President; Geo. Brown, Vice President; J. W. Crutcher, Secretary, and Dr. Wm. Jackson, Treasurer.

The mail carrier between Linkville and Ashland reports a foot of snow in the Klamath Basin, and some of the poorest stock is dying. The last storm will in all probability increase the distress.

A Chinaman engaged in mining on Buncombe, or Little Applegate, Jackson county, was caved on and killed one day last week. The Sentinel remarks: "More bone-freight for China and another queue for ladies' switches."

Some excitement was created at Jacksonville by the finding of what it was supposed would lead to traces of a man who disappeared mysteriously some time ago. A foul stench from a tunnel led to the belief that the man had been murdered and his body hid there, but investigations up to Saturday of last week revealed nothing that could be relied on.

CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE.

TOLEDO, O., Jan 20.—The nomination of M. R. Waite as Chief Justice of the United States creates great satisfaction here among all parties.

CINCINNATI, Jan 20.—The news of the nomination of Judge Waite, President of the Ohio Constitutional Convention, as Chief Justice of the United States created immense enthusiasm among the members, and when one of them read the dispatch announcing the fact there was a storm of applause, the nomination being not only unsought, but the Judge had forbidden his friends to present his name for the place.

NEW YORK, Jan 20.—A Times special says that the nomination of Waite is a thoroughly respectable one and will probably meet with little opposition from any quarter. Waite fulfills every imperative condition of the office. He is a man of very high personal character, recognized ability, and of quite sufficient standing in the profession to justify the belief that he will make a good Chief Justice. The post cannot have been tendered to him on the special recommendation of his services at Geneva, for Evarts rendered still greater services, but in nominating Waite the President has shown an earnest desire to discharge the very difficult duty in a conscientious manner and without reference to the party or private wishes of any clique in Washington or elsewhere.

MARRIED IN HASTE.—Rev. Samuel Scoville, the popular preacher of the Congregational Church here. He is a son-in-law of Henry Ward Beecher. Like his illustrious father-in-law he is something given to sensation. He is known to be an upright man and chivalrous, although not particularly [illegible] in his determinations. Among his hired servant girls Scoville had one who had been receiving attentions from a young man of her acquaintance. He came frequently, and [illegible] and [illegible] one night the young man was [illegible] in her room. This fact was reported to the head of the house, who went forthwith to the offending apartment. He gave the parties their choice between imprisonment in wedlock or the county jail. They chose the former. Their hands were joined, the essential questions of the marriage ceremony were put and answered, and the twain made one were left to their dreams and reflections. The next morning they left the house.—Norwich (N. Y.) Cor. New York Sun.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan 20.—Petitions from the National Board of Trade for a revision of the revenue laws, against the inflation of the currency, for the amendment of the National Banking Act and for a reduction of the volume of the fractional currency, were presented.

Oglesby presented a petition from the National Board of Trade in relation to cheap transportation, and made a speech calling the immediate attention of Congress to the subject, saying that in his opinion the question was of more importance than that of finance.

Bogy spoke in favor of National legislation to improve and open National water routes from the West to the East.

The petition was referred to the Committee on Transportation Routes to the Seaboard.

Consideration of the Finance resolution was resumed and remarks of Brownlow were read by the clerk. He opposed the immediate return to specie payments. He thought the present financial system was good, but that the distribution of currency was unequal. The South and West should have more.

Gordon opposed speedy resumption, though he was in favor of it at the proper time. To give the country more currency and make it flexible would in his opinion be the shortest and surest method of relief, as he believed this course would bring out millions of greenbacks now hoarded up. Speaking of his own section he said the South was poorer to day than when Lee surrendered. He hoped for the day when we would issue money not founded on gold but on the faith of the Government and receivable for all dues alike.

Chandler agreed that there should be more money, but he wanted better. He thought the Government should agree to a resumption of specie payment on the 1st of January, 187[illegible], to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow one hundred millions of gold at that time. Stop the sales of gold and silver now, and we would have by the time named two hundred millions in gold with which to begin the redemption of legal tenders. He opposed any increase of the volume of currency, even the forty four millions.

The resolution was laid aside informally and the Post route bill taken up, and the amendment by Pratt making all bridges now built or to be built across navigable rivers and all railroad post routes, discussed without action.

REPORT ON RAILWAYS AND CANALS.

The report of the Committee on Railways and Canals submitted to the House to-day submits a substitute for the House bill to regulate commerce among the several States, of which the report says: Without repeating in detail the provisions of the bill it is enough for the present purpose to say that it asserts the right and duty of Congress to regulate inter-State commerce as carried on by railroads, and prescribes as one of the regulations thereof, that the charges of persons engaged in such commerce for carrying freight and passengers shall in all cases be fair and reasonable. Before the discussion of the details the report says it is necessary to decide first its constitutionality, and next, the expediency of such a measure. First as to the constitutional question. Among the powers expressly conferred upon Congress by Section 8, Article 1 of the Constitution is the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States and with Indian tribes. In considering the question whether, under this provision, Congress has power to pass the bill reported, it will be necessary to establish the following propositions: First, that commerce among the several States which may be regulated by Congress includes commerce carried from State to State by railroads. Second, that to regulate the charges for carrying freight or passengers upon inter-State railroads so as to limit them to what is fair and reasonable and to prevent extortion, is a legitimate exercise of the power to regulate such commerce. In support of the first proposition the committee cites Judge Redfield on the law of railroads, the opinion of the Supreme Court delivered by Chief Justice Marshall, in the case of Gibbons vs. Ogden, Judge Cooley on Constitutional Limitations, the opinion of the Supreme Court, delivered by Justice Miller, in the case of Gray vs. Clinton Bridge Company, reported by the American Law Register, Jan 4th, and the recent decision of the Supreme Court in the case of the State freight tax (15 Wallace 232), which decision the committee regard as conclusive of the question, and as establishing that the power of Congress extends to all commerce which concerns more than one State, and that it necessarily includes the carrying of freight and passengers from one State to another. It reaches and controls that commerce which is beyond the reach of any single State, because not completely internal with any one State. The committee then proceed to discuss the second proposition relative to the regulation of tolls, and in its support they cite Chief Justice Marshall in Gibbons vs. Ogden. The question is not whether such regulation is reasonable or unreasonable, proper or improper, expedient or inexpedient, but simply whether it is a regulation. If it prescribes a rule to be followed in carrying commerce, then it is a regulation of commerce. That it does not prescribe such a rule is plain. The rule here prescribed is that in carrying commerce upon railroads between points in different States reasonable rates may be charged and not more. The power of Congress upon this subject has no limitations other than those prescribed in the Constitution itself. If this opinion is correct, as the committee regard it, it will make the power of Congress over inter-State commerce co-extensive with the power of the States over their internal commerce, and the right of a State to regulate the charges on railroads within its territory the committee consider settled beyond the possibility of dispute, and they cite numerous decisions of State courts and a recent decision of the Supreme Court in 16 Wallace 678, all of which rule the railroads to be public highways, no matter by whom constructed, whether by the Government or private corporation or persons. The authorities upon the subject are numerous and uniform, and they leave no doubt as to the right to limit by law the charges of common carriers to such as shall be reasonable, for they show clearly that such law is simply declaratory of the common law itself. The Committee say the power of Congress to charter inter-State railroads is not involved in the passage of the bill reported. It is however well settled by decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States that Congress may charter a corporation which is a necessary or proper instrument for carrying into effect any of the powers of the General Government. If therefore Congress should deem it necessary in the exercise of any power expressly conferred to regulate commerce among the several States to charter new lines of railroads or canals as channels of such commerce, its power to do so will [illegible] settled. The question being settled that the control of a railway company is subject either to the State or National law, the Committee proceed to give the reason why the State law is insufficient to control great trunk lines. The jurisdiction of the State cannot extend beyond its borders, and as the rules of the various States might so conflict as to make them impracticable, one State might [illegible] as well as diminish the rate, and thus discriminate in favor of their own citizens and against those of other States. The Committee [illegible] conclude that there [illegible] National control of the great trunk lines [illegible] through the several States is the only power that can protect the people from unjust and oppressive exaction.

As to the question of expediency the Committee consider that beyond all doubt [illegible] relief for existing evils [illegible] is necessary, and [illegible] that Congress can furnish it [illegible] which will result in benefit [illegible] which [illegible] exist [illegible] combining for their common interest and controlled by no law whatever.

Preparations are being made at Seattle to pack some ice, obtaining it from some of the lakes and freezing several thick cases together.

LETTER FROM TACOMA.

TACOMA, January 10, 1874.

EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

It is claimed by the majority of the dwellers on the Sound that a great deal less rain falls here than in Webfoot, which may be a fact; yet we have had rain enough so far to satisfy me that they must have gained their experience of Oregon weather from the rain fall in the town of Astoria or thereabout.

Not having arrived at the dignity of a Superintendent of Streets or even a Street Commissioner, we haven't the glorious satisfaction of being able to cuss either of these functionaries when we get stuck in the mud, and therefore we flounder through and pray for the day when by the aid of a few million of dollars to be raised on N. P. R. R. bonds endorsed by Uncle Sam we will build our railroad across the Continent and make this place a great city, and have an honest Common Council who will, maybe, give us a good big fat street contract, when if it is at night extremes are likely to meet, our prayer turned into cusses by coming into contact with a big stump or log, which are here found dropped promiscuously around, and generally in so good a state of preservation that if you meet them just right you can study astronomy without the aid of a glass.

Under the present state of affairs I fear that neither Common Council or Street Commissioners would improve the condition of our streets much, for in the new town there are no streets (except on paper) to be made good, and in the old town people don't propose to spend much money in that kind of improvement until they see how the cat is going to jump.

The surveyors are at work on the survey of the town, but owing to the rainy weather their progress is very slow.

Since the railroad has been completed, we have all of us been inclined to put on airs, but the railroad people residing here, who by the way are very nice people, have become very exclusive and have moored themselves out in the bay on an immense wharf. The wharf connects with the beach by a roadway, but the beach don't connect with any place except at low tide, and then only for foot passengers. The Company have done a large amount of work on a street leading from the wharf up the hill, but Jay Cooke & Co's failure caused a suspension of the work, and it is hardly passable for foot passengers. Work will however be resumed as soon as the weather will permit. Communication between the old town and the depot is now carried on by row boats, but a steam ferry is to be put on the route in a few days, which will be a decided improvement.

RAILROADS ON PAPER

Are getting to be very plentiful in this part of the world. Seattle and Olympia have each one about completed. All they lack is the grading, ties, iron and rolling stock, and they are finished. These being small matters will cause but little delay. Seattle has sent one of her prominent citizens to Washington to interview Congressmen and furnished him with $12,000 to put where it will do the most good. So munificent a sum will no doubt secure the desired object, as Beriah Brown remarks in one of his last editorials. It is only a question of time. Olympia is not going to depend on Congress or any other man, but will turn all the county road work next spring on the grade, and every farmer is expected to sacrifice the tire off of his wagon, as when they get the railroad they won't want their wagons any more, to lay the track, and the road will be completed. But who will pay for the axle grease when it is completed, is beyond my comprehension. Members of the Legislature will every two years make some travel, but then they will expect free passes, so they won't get much tallow from that source, and what will they do with it is what we want to know when they get it built. These little railroad plans have had the good effect of filling the columns of the Sound papers with other matters besides abuse of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and the people also begin to recognize the fact that a railroad terminating at any town on the Sound will help in some degree to build it up. The Seattle Dispatch learns from a gentleman in Washington, who is well posted, that the North Pacific Railroad will obtain Government aid at the present session.

Oregon as well as Washington Territory, is deeply interested in the success of this measure, which will insure the building of the road across the continent, and I am surprised that some of the Oregon papers are unfriendly to this great enterprise.

Until the Northern Pacific Railroad is completed immigration will come slowly and the resources of the State be developed to a very limited extent, but with this great highway thrown open to the world, population and wealth would flow in on you in a mighty stream, manufactures be started, mines opened and a thousand industries established, not dreamed of now, making Oregon one of the most prosperous and wealthy States in the Union.

Every one knows this, of course, but yet there is scarcely a paper or an individual in Oregon, so far as I can learn, who have made any effort or who will scarcely speak a good word for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company.

If mentioned at all it is in [illegible] comparing it with such roads as the Union and Central Pacific, when the truth is that there has been no evidence produced that the road has not been built economically, and that the affairs of the company have not been honestly administered.

With the same economical and honest management continued the Government even in these hard times can well afford to guarantee the interest on the company's bonds, provided, as is contemplated, that the Company give up their immense land grant to the Government. With the assurance which this would give that the road would be built, population would anticipate the completion along the proposed line, and the sales of land would realize enough from the start to pay the interest, and Government would really have nothing to pay, and would benefit the whole world by opening a highway for nations and an immense fertile country to immigration, which without the completion of the road will remain as it is now, of no advantage to any one.

We have had three vessels in port in the last ten days. The last one, the John Jay, was towed out of the harbor to day. She is a very old craft, having been built in New York in the year 1827, or 46 years ago. New York was then a town of little more than [illegible] inhabitants. The old ship carries a full cargo of lumber and apparently is as sound as when she was built.

THE TACOMA SAWMILL

Is running on full time and is turning out an immense amount of lumber. The amount turned out in the year 1873 was [illegible] feet.

DISTRICT COURT

For the county has been in session during the past week. One man was tried for killing an Indian, and found guilty of murder in the first degree, and was sentenced to be hung on the 20th day of March next. DECISION IN THE U. S. CIRCUIT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY.

J. J. Weeks vs. William S. Ladd, John C. Ainsworth, Simeon G. Reed and Robert R. Thompson—No. 136—Action to recover damages.

DEADY, J.—Monday, Jan. 2[illegible], 1874.

This action is brought to recover $13,171.70 damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff on August 29, 1867, by the sale of 42 shares of the stock of the Oregon Steam Navigation Co., a corporation formed and existing under the laws of Oregon for the purpose of navigating the Columbia river and its tributaries.

The complaint alleges that the plaintiff is a citizen of California, and that the defendants at the date of such sale and prior thereto, and while the plaintiff was the owner of the stock aforesaid, were the Directors of said corporation, and did by their false and fraudulent acts and representations reduce the market value of said stock 24 per centum below its real value; and also that the plaintiff, being ignorant of the fraudulent acts of defendants, as aforesaid, in diverting the funds of said company, all of which was done secretly by defendants, and in misapplying them, and relying upon the said representations and statements of defendants and upon their good faith and believing their said statements and representations so made as hereinbefore alleged to be true, was induced to sell and did actually on or about August 29, 1867, sell his said 42 shares of stock in said company for a price greatly below the real value thereof at the time of such sale, and also greatly below what it otherwise would have brought in the market at that time had it not been for the wrongful conduct of the defendants as aforesaid; that your plaintiff being influenced and induced as aforesaid by the fraudulent conduct of the said defendants as aforesaid did, at the date hereinbefore stated, sell, assign, transfer, set over to —— absolutely all his 42 shares of stock in said corporation for the price and receiving therefor the sum of 72½ cents and no more on the dollar par value thereof; that the real value of said 42 shares of stock at that date to the owner and holder thereof was not less than 25 per centum premium on the par value thereof, to wit: the sum of $625 per share."

The defendants demur to the complaint because (1) It does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action; and (2) The action was not commenced within the time limited by law—two years after the cause of action accrued.

In support of the first cause of demurrer, the defendant makes the following points: (1) That the acts and representations of the defendants, even conceding them to be fraudulent, and that plaintiff was thereby induced to sell his stock at less than its value, are not sufficient foundation for the action. (2) The complaint does not show that plaintiff was induced by these false acts and representations to part with his stock. (3) That it should be averred that the representations were in writing.

Upon the second of these points the argument stands thus:

For the defendants it is maintained that admitting, as the demurrer does, the defendants did the acts and made the representations complained of—that the plaintiff believed them to be true, and that they had the effect to depreciate the market value of the stock as alleged, still it does not follow that the plaintiff was thereby induced to sell his stock for less than its real value. There is a failure to connect the alleged cause and effect by proper averment. For aught that appears, the plaintiff may have been induced to part with his stock upon considerations altogether different than the apparent depreciation of its value. The alleged loss arose from the sale by the plaintiff of his stock for less than its real value, and unless it appears from the complaint that such sale was induced or caused by the conduct of the defendants, it is insufficient in this respect.

The argument for the plaintiff impliedly admits the proposition, but insists that it does appear from the complaint that the plaintiff was induced by the fraudulent acts of defendants to sell his stock.

In support of this assertion reference is made to this allegation in the complaint:—"That your plaintiff being influenced and induced, as aforesaid, by the fraudulent conduct of the said defendants as aforesaid did at the date hereinbefore stated sell, assign, transfer, set over, etc."

But this allegation adds nothing to the complaint in this respect, for to be "influenced and induced as aforesaid" is only to be influenced and induced as before stated. Now the previous and only allegation to which this "as aforesaid" relates does not state in terms that the plaintiff was induced by the conduct of the defendants to make the sale in question, but only that he "was induced to sell and did actually * * * sell," etc.

Unless then the prior allegation that the plaintiff believed in and relied on the representations of the defendants necessarily implies that he was thereby induced to sell, etc., the complaint is insufficient for want of such averment. Without it the alleged wrong and loss are not concatenated as cause and effect.

But the plaintiff does not maintain that there is ground for such implication, and I think it would be unsafe so to conclude.

The immediate inducement to sell may have been the necessity or desire of the plaintiff to convert his stock into money. In all the cases cited on the point there is a direct allegation in so many words or to that effect, that the injured party was induced by the conduct of the other to do the act which caused the loss to him.

In Cazeaux v. Mali, 25 Barb. 583, the cause and effect are connected by the averment that the plaintiff was influenced thereby in making the purchases.

In Cross v. Sackett, 2 Bosw. 645, the allegation is—"and so believing, and on the faith and credit of the aforesaid false and fraudulent * * practices and representation of the said defendants, * * * the said plaintiff did purchase the stock in question." The court (p. 646) held this allegation equivalent to saying that "by these fraudulent acts they (the defendants) induced the plaintiff to purchase."

In Gerhard v. Bates, 20 Eng. L. & E. [illegible], the court says:—"If the plaintiff had only further averred that afterwards having seen the prospectus he was induced to purchase the shares, objection might have been made that a connection did not sufficiently appear between the act of the defendant and the act of the plaintiff from which the loss arose, but the second count goes on expressly to aver that the defendant by means of the said * * representations wrongfully and fraudulently induced the plaintiff to become the purchaser, etc. Thus the wrong and the loss are clearly concatenated as cause and effect."

In Newbery v. Garland, 31 Barb. 121, it is alleged that the plaintiff was induced by these representations (the representations of the defendants) to purchase.

Upon the argument and authorities cited the point appears to be well taken. The argument for the plaintiff admits that the complaint should show that the plaintiff was induced to make the sale in question by means of the wrongful conduct of the defendants, and rests solely upon the bare assertion, which in the judgment of the court is erroneous, that the complaint contains such an allegation.

The cases cited [illegible] were cases of the purchase of stock upon false representations as to its value and condition of the corporation by the seller. Then it was held necessary to aver that the plaintiff was influenced to make the purchase by means of such representation. Without this the loss sustained by the purchaser would not appear to have been caused by the act of the seller.

The case at bar is one of the sale of stock by the plaintiff for a price below its real value upon false representations as to its value and the condition of the corporation, not by the other party to the sale, but by third persons who were then directors of the corporation. Therefore the allegation as to the influence these representations had upon the plaintiff in making the sale should state not only that he was thereby induced to sell his stock, but also to sell it at a price below its real value and thus incur a loss which he [illegible] not.

Upon this point the demurrer is sustained, and therefore it is not necessary to consider further.

Abner A. Barker vs. the same—No. 138—Action to recover damages.

J. A. Sanderson vs. the same—No. 1[illegible]—Action to recover damages.

These cases are against the same defendants as the foregoing one and for similar causes. Barker claims $5,560 damages and Sanderson $19,000. They were argued and submitted together, and the demurrer is sustained in each of them for the same reasons.

The winter wheat in western Washington Territory is pronounced by those who have traveled through that section to be looking very well, and the late freeze having come when most of it was covered with snow, has left it uninjured.

A woman known as Mollie Thompson, of Fairview, Idaho, recently committed suicide by taking morphine. She had led a life of shame for several years past in Silver City, and was much addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. It is thought she did not intend to commit suicide.

The Utah Tribune learns from a gentleman who has just arrived from Beaver county, that the cold weather and snow fall in that part of the Territory this winter have been without precedent. The snow on the mountains in Beaver Lake district is usually about six or eight inches, but this year it has reached a depth of five feet on the ranges, and two feet in the valleys.

Some wrong was done Olympia by the Committee on Commerce in the Council at the late session of the Washington Territory Legislature. The Transcript says the Committee had a memorial to Congress referred to them in relation to the mud flats in front of Olympia, but said Committee never reported it back, and now Congress will not act in the matter because the Legislature did not endorse the memorial.

The heavy snows across the Columbia river in the mountains are driving the wild animals out. The farmers in the foothills, east of Yelma Prairie, have been losing some young cattle by the wolves last week. On Chambers Prairie the farmers were preparing a few days ago to hunt cougars which are in that vicinity. A party last week killed three deer, one wild cat and some other animals south of Bush's Prairie.

The following in relation to the wheat crop of the Swinomish flats was handed the Mail by Mr. McTaggart last week: Mr. Thomas Calhoun planted 168 acres, 38 of which yielded 100 bushels per acre and the balance 63 bushels per acre. Mr. John Cornelius, 80 acres, producing 5,330 bushels. Mr. Charles Streamer, 83 bushels to the acre. Mr. James Harrison, 60 acres, producing 3,500 bushels. This is the kind of land they have back of La Conner, near the mouth of Skagit river.

The non-Mormon element of Salt Lake City are in the minority, but as they contribute about one half of the money to run the city government they ask a voice in the City Council. A meeting of the leading Gentiles was held last week to take action in regard to the approaching city election. The meeting resolved to nominate three men for Councilmen and one for Alderman, and appointed a committee to confer with leading Mormons and present the names of the nominees for insertion in the regular ticket at the coming city election.

An exchange tells of a man in Idaho who recently found the truth of the old saying, "there's many a slip," etc. He was a man against whom no adverse charge could be urged, except having lived single too long to engage in a little game of matrimony with a young and handsome rival. The stake was a buxom lass of nineteen, and although the hero put up broad acres and horned beasts innumerable, and went a rich quartz mine and a 40 stamp mill "better," his opponent "called" him on a full hand of youth and good looks and took down the pot. Delay is always dangerous.

The Colonist of the 21st inst. says: The steamer Otter will sail this morning at 6:30 o'clock for Fort Wrangle. Her passenger and freight accommodations are filled, and if any more get on board they will have to take up their quarters in the smoke-stack or steam chest. The freight consists of a most heterogeneous assortment of articles—flour, snow shoes, bacon, tools, beans, liquors, toboggans, dogs, clothing, rockers, boots and shoes, lumber, hardware, fresh beef, etc. A few of the pioneers of Cassiar will start to-day, viz: Rath Brothers, the Lyon Brothers, Mr. Walbran and two or three others. Mr. Thibert and the Moores will delay their departure for a month.

C. Burgess and W. Peters, who were in the Ketwah pilot boat which was supposed to have been lost, arrived in Victoria Tuesday, the 21st inst., and report having been out in the gale Saturday night. They were obliged to put into Crescent Bay and lay there three days. During that time at least 200 trees on the shore near by were blown down, and as one fell a limb struck an Indian and broke his back. He wanted to be taken to Victoria for medical assistance, but as the men knew the danger of getting there they had to leave him behind, although it was not in their power to render him any assistance. While at Crescent Bay they were kindly treated by three farmers who lived near them.

A NEEDED REFORM

One of the most malignant diseases with which any body politic can be afflicted is that which arises from the existence in it of one or two petty offices with large incomes attached Such a disease has the county of Multnomah and the offices that produce it are the county clerkship and the shrievalty Biennially this disease breaks out all over the body politic into most disgusting ulceration For some months before the usual time for selecting candidates [illegible] these offices, the whole community [illegible] upon by small politicians [illegible] to barter chances of Mr A [illegible] end about all the and bargain [illegible] The county is [illegible] offices [illegible] to see who are naturally full[illegible] side of each person named and to ascertain the weaknesses of all approachable persons who may be able to influence a vote or two in the preliminary moves that prepare the way to the nominating convention Gradually the matter is worked up until the entire community is enlisted in the fight, and the public peace can with difficulty be preserved, so high runs the excitement In the end, the man generally wins who spends the most money with those classes upon whose suffrages these offices—especially that of Sheriff—should never depend The respectable people and the people who have a stake in the land are ordinarily divided between the candidates or consider them all unworthy of the nomination and the irresponsibles, the sans culottes, the purchasables of every ilk united by the influence of strong drink and golden agreement, have the balance of power and actually select the nominee just as potentially as if only they were allowed to vote

To buy these fellows costs money The man who has got the office at this cost must get back his money somehow And the office is the opening It is an office the compensation of whose service comes in the form of fees—small charges according to services performed and governed by a statutory schedule And the way they can double up and reduplicate to swell the fees is a miracle of skill and a wonder which few can understand Ten cents here and fifteen cents there, a quarter of a dollar on this service or that and a dollar on exactly the same service called by some other name a charge for serving a paper and a charge for reporting that the paper has been served, charges for mileage, for percentage and for commission, till one's head swims with confusion whenever one tries to find out for one's self whether the fee bill charged is according to law

These remarks are applicable equally to the offices of Clerk and Sheriff So difficult and intricate are the fee bills of these two offices that the officers themselves do not agree as to the proper charges Sheriffs and Clerks in different counties of the State will vary in their charges for similar services in the course of a legal proceeding from twenty-five to fifty per cent., and even in the same county like variation will be found amongst successive officers

But somehow in this county they manage to run the fees up high enough These two offices in Multnomah county are estimated to be worth to the incumbents all the way from $8,000 to $12,000 per annum They are certainly very lucrative—at least twice as much so as they ought to be either for the interest of the community or for the fair compensation of the officers They are not only an unjust and oppressive tax upon the people who have work to be done, but they are a standing inducement to and instrument of corruption There is need of reformation herein The fee bills should be abolished, or so reduced as to make the offices no more remunerative than other official positions requiring the exercise of equal talent and ability The best plan, probably, would be to pay these officers a salary and dispense with fees We are aware that it is urged against this particularly in regard to the shrievalty that the duties of this office are of a character so peculiar that the stimulus of fees dependent more or less on successful work, is necessary in order to secure the efficient performance of the duties But in the case of police officers, whose duties are similar to those of the Sheriff, it is found that they are as efficient upon a salary as upon fees

A QUEER NOMINATION

On the 15th day of March, 1873, General Thomas B Van Buren, United States Commissioner to the Vienna Exhibition left the United States to enter upon the discharge of his official duties On the 24th day of April all the members of the Commission were suspended "for improper practices,' and a new (temporary) Commission was appointed On the 12th day of August the Vienna Special Committee of Inquiry made public their report in which Van Buren, Mayer, and others were charged with fraudulent and dishonorable practices such as selling their official influence, bartering away in their own proper names rights and franchises which they held in trust for the Government of the United States and engaging in systematic plunderings of exhibitors Our Minister to Austria and the whole Committee of Inquiry declared these charges fully sustained by incontrovertible evidence At Vienna, the Commissioners from the different States held indignation meetings and passed resolutions commending the thoroughness and fairness of the Committee's investigation and the justice of its findings, and vigorously condemning the dishonorable intrigues of the first Commission The Commissioner from our own State we believe participated in some of these meetings We remember of hearing from his lips a vivid arraignment of Van Buren and his dishonest associates Indeed so notorious an [illegible] agrant were the shortcomings of [illegible] ission that Americans gener[illegible] great Exhibition blushed at [illegible] ion brought upon the national [illegible] ss to recite the details of the [illegible] ory The Commissioners protested their innocence of the charges Gen Van Buren went so far as to write a very saucy letter to the Department of State and one to President Grant, in both of which he characterized Minister Jay as "a vicious intermeddler and a slanderer Secretary Fish replied with unusual acerbity The offending Commissioner was made to understand that he had disgra[illegible] the Government and seriously compromised the honor of the administration while the people of the United [illegible] Buren was in [illegible] that Gen Thomas [illegible] who had brought [illegible] repute before the assembled [illegible] the popular verdict was made up [illegible] and transmitted direct to the offending Commissioner who speedily returned to the United States venting his hate and cursing Secretary Fish and Minister Jay without stint Every careful reader will remember his intemperate letters published about this time Popular indignation ran at high tide for months afterward, and Van Buren as the responsible head of the Commission received a drubbing at the hands of every country paper published within the domain of the Republic

This retrospect of a most unfortunate and humiliating series of events has been brought to mind by the following telegram taken from an exchange

WASHINGTON Jan 20 —The President to day nominated Thomas B Van Buren of New Jersey Consul at Kanagawa Japan

It is difficult to understand just how the President could have made a nomination so unfortunate If we read the signs of the times aright the day is rapidly passing in which such men as Van Buren can easily be made representatives of the American people It is possible, of course, that Van Buren is innocent, but it will readily occur to the thoughtful mind that his vindication should have preceded his elevation

PRESIDENT GRANT ON THE LOUISIANA TROUBLES

The President's letter to the Senate reviewing the difficulties in Louisiana a brief synopsis of which is published in another column, is, in the main, to be admired for its candid statements and conclusions He says, in effect that the election of 1872 was an organized fraud from beginning to end for the benefit of those now in possession of the Government of that State, that there has not yet been a fair count of votes, and that the pretended result has been reached by dishonest means too well known to be repeated This we apprehend is about as succinct a statement of the merits of the case as may be

The OREGONIAN has always held that if any one was blameable for the disgraceful state of affairs in Louisiana, for the recognition and enforcement of Durell's decrees, it was not the President, nor the Attorney-General, but Congress The question of the legality of the Kellogg government came before a Federal court for adjudication and Kellogg was sustained The President could not go back of this decree, review the evidence and the findings of the court, and reverse its judgment Durell may be a corrupt and an incompetent Judge He doubtless is, but the President had no constitutional authority to disregard the verdict of the Federal court, on that account

On the 28th day of February, 1872 the Senate rejected Senator Carpenter's Louisiana bill, and on the 1st day of March following the Senate, by a decisive vote, refused to reconsider the vote by which it was defeated The President's duty was plain, and he performed it courageously He had, on several occasions, called the attention of Congress to the scandalous dissentions between the rival governments, but the Forty-Second Congress was thoroughly absorbed in the contemplation of its own nastiness, and it had a natural aversion to opening up any new leads

There will unquestionably be a diversity of opinion as to the soundness of one of the recommendations contained in the President's letter We refer to the opinion that Congress should not interfere to order a new election since Louisiana is entitled to that freedom from Federal interference in local disputes which is the common right of every State in the Union And yet we are disposed to applaud even this conclusion The doctrine just quoted (of the immunity of States from armed interference by the General Government) cannot be too strongly enforced at this time The great danger lies in the disregard thereof Hence we would say that Congressional interference would be unwise as well as illegal If Warmoth believes that Kellogg holds his office by a fraud let him go into the Courts and there settle it If he be not satisfied with the District Court in New Orleans, let him go to the Supreme Court at Washington

There is one thing at all events which the Senate can do very handsomely on the showing of President Grant's message It can judge of the election and qualifications of a certain individual who stands knocking at its door it can send Mr P B S Pinchback back to his native haunts with "Not Wanted" stamped legibly on his manly features

General A M Winn summoned Judge Hager the newly elected Senator from California before him the other day, and having read to him that Labor Platform, demanded categorical answers to the same. Hager assented to all of Winn's propositions until it came to free banking, and a discriminating revenue tariff when he looked Winn steadily in the eye and told him as to the former he did not quite comprehend what he meant and as for the latter he thought the nearer we get to free trade the better it will be for the people of this coast but so long as we are to have a tariff it should be levied in accordance with the views set forth This lucid utterance was his deliverance Winn and four other mechanics gave expression to their views and [illegible] Hager [illegible]

From certain events now transpiring in this city we infer that the campaign of 1874 will speedily open Mr H W Scott editor of the Bulletin and Collector of Customs for this port was closeted with Hon Ben Hayden of Polk county on Sunday night The subject of discussion was doubtless one of exceeding interest to both parties as the interview lasted for something like two and one half hours At its conclusion a well known hanger on of Mr Holladay's [illegible] cabinet took the place of the Collector of Customs "I say Scotty I say" How is this for a Democratic alliance?

We must be excused for a reasonable incredulity in the matter of Darwin's reported death This is before writing his for his annual de[illegible] firmation of obituary

THE BACK PAY LITERATURE,

SENATOR SHERMAN'S SENSITIVENESS ON THE [illegible] OF HIS [illegible] WEALTH

Mr Tipton (Lib Rep Neb) said he hardly knew how to express in parliamentary language his [illegible] to the desire of Senators to accomplish indirectly that which they cannot accomplish directly The gentleman from Ohio (Mr Sherman) said he could not live on a small salary Perhaps he can when that document which comes to my table (producing a paper) speaks of men like Mr Sherman of Ohio the head of the Finance Committee now a millionaire who came into Congress poor

Mr Sherman—I ask the Senator from Nebraska if that is true?

Mr Tipton—I know nothing about it I give it as I get it

Mr Sherman—Well Mr President that is grossly unsenatorial and grossly false The Senator who introduces that statement here violates his duty as a Senator and deserves the condemnation of all his fellow Senators

Mr Tipton said he did not think it discreditable to read the fact It was not discreditable to the gentleman as others had come to the Senate poor and are now rich He meant nothing against the character or integrity of the Senator

Mr Tipton had an amendment to offer to the bill and that was to provide that there be a reduction in the compensation of the Hon Mr Morrill of Maine and Mr Sherman of Ohio of $2,805 56 the amount each of them received as back pay under the act of July 28 1866 Thus there would be equality and a show of Heaven's justice in the Senate of the United States If that amendment should go through safe he would turn to other gentlemen and let them have the privilege of relieving their consciences and their pockets at the same time

Mr Sherman said he stated that the proposition made by the Senator from Indiana was not just but if the Senate wanted to make the salary $5 000 per annum he was willing Look at the spectacle presented here to day in the Senate which professed to be governed not only by rules of order but by the rules of gentlemen, and where there should be a marked degree of courtesy A member comes and produces what he calls a document What is it? Where is it?

Mr Tipton (producing the paper)—It is the financial system unmasked and dissected—a speech delivered before the Grangers of Illinois by Morris H Day

Mr Sherman—A speech I never saw or heard of before made by somebody in Illinois in which I am charged with being a millionaire—I wish to gracious I was—an insinuation that I have made money by my position

Mr Tipton—I utterly disclaim any such intention I only wanted to show that if it is true that the Senator is worth a million he ought not to be so forward in a step which might be injurious to others

Mr Sherman—If the Senator did not intend to make that charge why did he introduce the paper here?

Mr Tipton—My disclaimer is worth as much as that of the gentleman

Mr Sherman—I can say before man and before God, and defy the whole world or any individual in the world, to show that I have received directly or indirectly since I have been a member of Congress a dollar except my pay and I can show that I have sacrificed my private interests

Mr Tipton—I made the disclaimer in good faith

Mr Sherman—I accept it When a Senator of the United States makes an insinuation against me I meet it The Senator having disclaimed any intention to make such a charge against me, I have nothing more to say As I said before, I believe the Committee has carefully and wisely considered this salary matter I am willing to surrender not only half of my pay, but the whole of it rather than have personal questions raised

Mr Boreman (Rep W Va) said he did not believe that those who had taken the increased salary had committed any criminal act This charge of criminality was a charge of the Senate against its own members He did not believe he was surrounded by dishonest men If he did he would resign and go home among honest people

Mr Logan (Rep Ill) would vote for the repeal of the Salary bill, because he was acting in part as agent for the people of Illinois but was not going to acknowledge that he did wrong in voting for the increase He desired to put himself right before his constituents and tell them he was voting their sentiment for repeal, not his own He was sorry to see so much zeal manifested on the part of some Senators here who did not vote for the increase They desired to force Senators who had voted for the bill into a false position Every man whose conscience hurt him or who believed his constituents would condemn him could give the money back The Treasury would receive it but those who believed they did right in taking the money should be allowed to keep it

There were some men here who probably expected to be President He desired to say to them that the vote on the salary bill would neither make nor unmake them That was not the character of the statesmanship which made great men Their action reminded him of the story of two boys who were out hunting and came upon a wild boar. One ran off and climbed a tree but the other not being able to reach the tree was overtaken by the boar which ran between his legs The boar caught him by both ears and after holding on some time cried out to the one in the tree John come here! What do you want? cried John Why I want you to help me let this hog go [Laughter on the floor and in the galleries] That is just the condition of these gentlemen

TUESDAY MORNING JANUARY 27 1874

CITY.

ABANDONED TO DIE.—Craft and avarice are said to be the principal motives which control and guide the actions of the average Celestial, in all his social and business relations with his countrymen or the world at large Like the Siberian wolves which turn and devour a disabled or sick comrade the average John no sooner finds his relations or friends useless helpless and an object of care and solicitude than he is ready and willing to abandon them to want disease and death Gratitude towards a friend or benefactor or even the common and natural instincts of filial affection seem to enter into no part of their selfish nature Every few months instances are reported where one of their number is left to die of neglect and starvation simply because he falls sick becomes disabled or is no longer of any service A few months ago a Chinaman was employed by a gentleman of this city to wash cook and do general work as a servant He was a faithful industrious fellow and well liked by his employers Several weeks since he fell sick, and was compelled to relinquish his position His disease was of an obstinate character and baffled successfully the medical skill of the Chinese professors He lingered along until a few days since when his companions true to their heartless unfeeling instincts became tired of the burden thus imposed and resolved to rid themselves of their sick comrade Accordingly, one night they conveyed the sick fellow to the premises of his former employer and left him in the woodshed On the following morning he was discovered by the family nearly chilled to death and in a pitiable state of mind and body The gentleman kindly placed the miserable creature in an out house gave him clean clothes drink and food but notwithstanding these humane attentions the Chinaman died a few days afterwards On being informed of the event his companions played the old dodge "no sabe" and feigned entire ignorance of the whole affair This is one among many instances which we have been called upon to chronicle.

LOST OVERBOARD.—During the voyage from Buenos Ayres to this port, the bark City of Lima lost a sailor overboard a short time after the vessel had passed Cape Horn He was a Prussian by birth and aged about 27 years A stiff gale was blowing at the time—about 5 o'clock in the morning—and this sailor was forward on the jibboom performing some required work He either lost his footing or was blown off by the violence of the gale Several persons saw him fall and gave the alarm On striking the water the sailor sank and was not seen for several seconds He rose, struggling to the surface near the stern of the vessel The mate shouted to the man at the helm to cast out a rope This order was obeyed but not quite quick enough The wind was blowing a fierce gale and a heavy sea was running so that before the rope was thrown out the poor fellow was borne far astern beyond reach As the sea was too boisterous for a small boat to live for a moment, the ship was turned about as quickly as possible but nothing could be seen of the man The ship kept on her course after looking about in vain for some time

LOST—RECOVERED.—Yesterday morning a portion of the Metropolitan Minstrels, who favored this public with several performances, started from the city overland to Vancouver, to report at the garrison It is not known precisely the quantity they took on board prior to starting, but they were said to be a jolly crew. So extraordinarily high did their spirits soar, that they forgot for a time matters of terrestrial moment—also a kettle drum, which was left to languish in solitude by the roadside A farmer happened to pass along the road soon after the "boys in blue" had and discovered the instrument lying to one side He considerately picked it up, brought it to this city and gave it to the officers of the Vancouver, who returned the drum to the post Had not this circumstance occurred the garrison would not have been awakened this morning by reveille

CITY OF LIMA.—The English bark City of Lima reached this port on Sunday night in tow of the tug Merrimac from Astoria. She came in ballast from Buenos Ayres and will carry hence a cargo of grain to Europe This bark was built in 1862, and was designed expressly to engage in the South American traffic Her tons register is 351, with a carrying capacity of nearly 500. Eighty three days were required to make the passage from Buenos Ayres to off the mouth of the Columbia While off Cape Horn, she encountered some heavy gales, but the vessel weathered the storm and made a very fair passage everything considered She brought coarse sand ballast In a few days the vessel will begin to discharge ballast at the Gas Company's wharf.

FELL IN.—On Sunday morning as a milk man was walking on board the steamer Annie Stewart, he lost his footing and fell into the river The splash, accompanied with a loud outcry, attracted the attention of all on board and several persons rushed frantically to the rescue After some difficulty the vender of the lacteal element was pulled out half drowned and minus his hat. He also lost his can, containing several gallons of milk Those who like adulterated milk for their tea and coffee, can use the water of the Wallamet for some time to come

MODERATING.—By consulting our weather reports from east of the mountains, it will be observed that the weather is greatly moderating in that region. All the snow has disappeared under the rains and increased temperature. The cold weather with its concomitants of snow sleet and ice is peculiarly trying on stock of all kinds as well as a serious obstacle to navigation and inducing a general stagnation of business The return and continuance of good weather will everywhere be hailed with gladness

PATENT SECURED.—We learn from the Pacific Rural Press that Mr Edwin W Perrin, so well known in Portland, has lately obtained a patent for "Wood Pavement" invented some time ago by him Mr Perrin has also secured a patent for his "Folding Leaf Table" a full description of which was given in these columns over a year ago At present Mr Perrin is in San Francisco

FOR THIRTY DAYS.—The old Celestial who was arrested late on Saturday evening for stealing a ham from Eddy's grocery store was tried in the Police Court yesterday John persisted that he "no sabe" when called upon to plead His guilt appearing clear beyond all doubts, he was sentenced to the County Jail for thirty days

MAKING PREPARATION.—The members of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society are making extensive preparations for celebrating in a becoming manner the 17th of March Early next week a meeting will be held by the Society at which the various committees will be appointed and other preliminary arrangements made

SNOW.—We learn that the snow last Saturday was one foot deep at Forest Grove and still snowing when our informant left Snow still lies to considerable depth along the Columbia river and on the adjacent hills between Astoria and the mouth of the Wallamet

HALL CHANGED.—In consequence of the smallness of the hall the Emmet Guard have made arrangements to give their ball at Washington Guard Armory. This ball will come off to-morrow evening when a very pleasant time can be had in anticipation

WITHOUT LICENSE.—A teamster named Glas [illegible] was arrested yesterday by a police officer having been found running a team and wagon without license He gave bonds for his appearance at Court this morning when the case will be tried

"MINES AND MINERALS."—Prof Thomas Condon will deliver the eighth lecture of the course this evening at Masonic Hall His subject will be the "Mines and Minerals of the Pacific Coast"

Prof Cardinell has a monopoly of the business at his dancing academy

During the present month 1[illegible] arrests have been made by the police force

The sight of the street cleaners and scavengers is refreshing to the vision

These wet days the Portland Library has an unusually large attendance

Thirteen handsome (?) photographs adorn the Rogues Gallery at the city jail

The Oro Fino Theater awaits a tenant be he "for the season" or "for one night only"

Prof O S Fowler the phrenologist was in Sacramento Cal last week He is eastward bound

It is about time the Eastern paper mail was changed to the overland route The delays are monotonous

Those A No 1 bilks the Vieuxtemps (or few stamps) Bros are billed to appear in Albany at an early date

The bark Rival went down the river yesterday in tow of the Merrimac The Rival carries away a load of flour to San Francisco

Great quantities of flour from up the valley are now being shipped by the O S N Co's boats to Victoria and the Sound country.

Again we warn all persons from whom quarterly licenses are overdue that Chief Lappeus is making his rounds with book and pencil

Yesterday the O S N Co's telegraph line was down between here and the Dalles It was soon got into working condition, however

It is reported that East Portland is afflicted with the gold fever and all because some person has been sharp enough to find gold in a well 90 feet deep

It is said that "the wicked stand on slippery places" but we have seen some awfully profane and immoral fellows who can't make it in the skating rink

The snug little sum of $2,000 awaits the individual who captures the $8,000 in currency stolen last week at Kalama Quite a stake well worth laboring for

Almost every other man carries a postal card, they are so convenient when you are at the postoffice and happen to want to send a brief dun to some delinquent

Chris Schloth, the butcher says he has killed a bullock and prepared it for sale in less than six minutes thirty one and a half seconds—but he can't do it now

Families are advised not to leave clothes out on lines all night, and all sensible minded chickens should profit by the warning, and seek the topmost twigs before consulting the drowsy god

A man was fined in the Police Court yesterday morning for breaking a bottle on First street. Persons who are in the habit of depositing broken glass on the streets, should be a little cautious in the future

A number of merchants who make a certain store, not a square away from the old Postoffice stand, their headquarters occupy their spare time in blowing pointed wads, through a wooden tube at a target for —

Dean and Baker, ye Knights of ye Ethiopian Minstrelsy who tickled the public palate at Oro Fino Theater last Friday and Saturday with dance joke and song are now repining in the City Jail for drunkenness Such is fame Alas for frail humanity it can never stand prosperity

The running expenses, so to speak without the least intentional irreverence of all the churches and Sunday Schools in the city including the salaries of pastors, etc, do not exceed the sum of $20,000. It is estimated that the various saloons of Portland receive an annual support of nearly $200 000

A RARE TREAT.

On last Sunday evening we enjoyed the pleasure of hearing the second of a course of lectures by Rev J D Eaton, at the Congregational Church The subject of these lectures is "Egyptology" and Mr Eaton is bringing to his work a vast amount of research into the manners customs government and religion of that people so remarkable and prominent in history—the Egyptians He is also making use of object lessons in his lectures and has procured the services of an artist to execute drawings illustrating the different parts of his subject Some twenty five of these drawings have been executed in a style worthy of commendation and add greatly to the interest of the lectures

On last Sunday evening the lecturer treated of the religious doctrines of the Egyptians and the resemblances and contrasts disclosed by a comparison with the Mosaic law and ritual

Besides the interest naturally attending such a course of lectures at any time it may be noticed that the subjects treated are closely related to the present course of the International Sunday School Lessons The history of Moses the leader of the Hebrews from the bondage of Egypt must ever be identified in large measure with the people among whom he spent the first forty years of his life and the study of Egyptology throws much light upon the customs of the Jews as well as upon the Scripture history concerning them

The retention of the patronage of customers year after year is the highest commendation a business firm can receive It is proof that those who know the house best and who have the most frequently tested its merits are its firmest friends This is true of BECK & WALDMAN where in addition to hosts of new customers the faces of old friends are constantly to be seen The goods have been marked down as the firm wish to close out to make room for Spring Stock

FASHION NOTES.

Steel butterflies and aigrettes for the hair are shown

Ladies this winter will wear the same things they wore last year—if they can't buy others

The newly imported Roman scarfs are very beautiful and are made a quarter of a yard wide

From Paris comes the intelligence that demi trains have succeeded the court train in genteel society

The kettle drum mania has extended to Boston and just at present these affairs are the leading dissipation in fashionable society

Black silk walking suits trimmed with chinchilla or silver fox fur are the newest exhibited on the fashionable thoroughfares of New York

Lace fichus are very fashionable this winter for evening dress Those of white lace are the most beautiful particularly when worn with light colored silk dresses

A new kind of imported fringe is of cut glass It is similar to the old fashioned bugle fringe although prettier and upon black silk dresses is very beautiful and effective

White cambric handkerchiefs with colored hems are new The prettiest have a white center and deep hem of pink Another style is fluted and has a colored monogram in the middle

In Paris the young ladies are wearing a very jaunty little hat of gray felt bound with gray velvet and ornamented with a gray aigrette and long gray feather It turns up on the right side and is altogether stylish

Elizabethan ruffs and overskirts are going out of fashion together Apron fronts succeed overskirts and high standing collars the ruffs Apropos of the revival of collars some new and very pretty styles and patterns are exhibited

The large Turkish gold dollars are now made into necklaces and bracelets, although the latter are rather out of fashion The coins are showy and form effective ornaments They are not very common these new necklaces and for that reason are sought after

Dresses made of two different materials are quite fashionable For instance a camel's hair cloth trimmed with silk flounces or a silk trimmed with camel's hair cloth The effect is quite pretty especially when the dress is cut in the redingote style and has a pyramid of small flounces in front

Workbaskets of European manufacture have musical boxes in the center cleverly hidden behind a looking-glass or pincushion As the fair lady plies her needle she hears "music in the air" and is enabled to do twice as much work (according to the agent's recommendations) with this affair at hand

The redingote remains the most popular garment of the period Of late it has been modified and improved and is now very stylish The beauty of the garment is that it can be worn with almost any skirt and look well Very large buttons are still used to trim the redingote also ball fringe and fur

THE STAGE

The Metropolitan minstrels have returned to Vancouver

Frank Mayo is playing "Davy Crockett" at the Boston Theater

Madame Anna Bishop was tendered a complimentary benefit at Platt's Hall San Francisco on Thursday evening 22d inst

They are making a good fuss about Boucicault, the dramatist in San Francisco He is playing "Boucicault in California," and his numerous productions at the California Theater

Figaro of the 19th inst says "Woods Cooke principal somersault rider, Mlle Millie Tournaire, "Queen of the Air," and Leon and Lascelles star gymnasts arrived last night under engagement to John Wilson's Palace Amphitheater, on New Montgomery street, Ted O'Brien, the champion leaper will arrive to night and other talent will follow The season will probably commence next Saturday (24th)"

At latest advices the Fanny Morgan Phelps Troupe was playing at Eureka Cal The company comprises Miss Fanny Morgan Phelps, S W Piercy James Barrows Chas Lapels Miss Carrie Lapels and others The McGinley Troupe of dancers and vocalists were playing at Ryan's Theater Times were good and both troupes were making money Either the McGinley Troupe has improved wonderfully or the Eurekaians don't know much about the show business

BUSINESS NOTICES

Among the numerous new advertisements will be found the exhibit showing the financial condition of the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company of California This company has been represented in this city scarcely two years and to day the books show a large list of policy holders residing in this city and throughout the State and adjoining Territories The Oregon branch of the company is in good hands and they will do well in keeping Mr Edward Hall at head office in this State Those desirous of insuring will find it worth their while to examine the annual report above referred to

Every man who has a spare piece of ground adjoining his dwelling should either raise a crop of delicacies for his table or adorn the lot with choice flowers etc The farmer should devote a portion of his farm to the raising of various kinds of vegetables not heretofore thought of No one need be without seeds trees plants shrubbery bulbs etc, while Hanson & Aiken can supply everything in that line Their depot is in the Central Market

KALAMA

Our occasional correspondent on the Sound sends the following

Dr Plummer is toiling to connect the telegraph from the north with the wire at Tacoma and use the R R Co's wire to Kalama which will aid dispatch of biz—from Portland North

The N P R R Co having lately completed a large sale of lands east of the Rocky mountains are in funds to pay off all indebtedness and it is understood they will liquidate all claims against the Pacific division within a few weeks

Nearly all the steamers plying on the upper Sound call at the R R Co's wharf at Tacoma which gives that point a lively air and the cars come down within 100 feet of the boats and within 50 feet of the R R Hotel where Messrs Kelly and Blackwell formerly host of Clarendon Hotel Portland do the agreeable dispense the comfort, &c

Shippers of stock and freight are beginning to avail themselves of the advantages of the railroad in its completion from the Columbia to the Sound from two to five car loads passing over the road daily Last freight from Portland reaches the Sound in one day A new freight house is erected on the wharf at Kalama and also one at Tacoma, besides stock yard at each place

EUGENE CITY ITEMS

Rev D R Nesbitt of Corvallis is announced to lecture here on next Thursday evening Subject "Shoddy"

Sheriff Poindexter last week brought a young man from Oregon City on a charge of larceny of a kit of lathing tools The case was tried before Justice Holland and resulted in a verdict of not guilty

The officers of the various Granges of Lane county met here last Tuesday As their meetings were secret the uninitiated can only guess at the purpose of the convention It is said to have been for the purpose of instructing the officers in the secret work of the Order

A recent issue of the Eugene Hawkeye alluded to John Kelly as a wolf in the fold of the Granges who would be a very unsafe counselor whereupon the members of the Springfield Grange resolved that they "have unlimited confidence in the stability and integrity of our Worthy Master John Kelly and believe that everything pertaining to the best interests of the Order will find in him an ardent supporter"

A Reanimated System.

Nervous, debilitated and desponding the sufferer from indigestion and biliousness deserves the kindly sympathy of every man and woman whom heaven has blessed with a vigorous stomach and a regular flow of healthy bile While in this forlorn condition let him commence a course of that supreme restorative Hostetter's Stomach Bitters At the end of four or five weeks ask him how he feels and regard him attentively You will see a new man you will hear a new voice Health and vigor will have returned to his frame his words will be cheerful in purport and in tone his eyes will be clear and its expression untroubled and he will tell you that he is free from pain has a good appetite sleeps soundly and that his habit of body is natural and regular We have seen this wonderful change effected in hundreds of instances by a faithful persevering use of this incomparable medicated stimulant which is among tonic remedies what Mount Washington is among the surrounding acclivities; it overtops them all

For wild beasts as they were and slaves

Its awful secrets evermore
Within its sullen [illegible] bound

Two lone palms on the Palatine
A row of cypress black and tall
With white roots [illegible] Caesar's Hall—
White roots that [illegible] white marbles twine

They watch along a broken wall
They look away toward Lebanon
And mourn for grandeur dead and gone
And this is Rome—and this is all

THE WHITE HOUSE

REFITTING THE EAST AND OTHER ROOMS—THE MOST SPACIOUS ROOM IN THE COUNTRY—ECONOMY AND ELEGANCE COMBINED

[Special Cor N Y Times]

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Dec 30 1873

It is startling to know and realize now how near we were last winter to figuring in a dismal sensation that would have sent a thrill of horror not only through our own nation but throughout the civilized world I do not think any of those who frequent Washington during the winter season, and love to linger at receptions and levees at the White House, would consider the notoriety of being among a list of killed and wounded, warranted to appear in every newspaper in the world, as victims of a falling ceiling at the Executive Mansion, compensation or consolation for the loss of life or limb Now it is first known that such a catastrophe was possible The plastering fell last winter in one of the large halls at the White House adjoining the East Room and the ceiling of the latter was tested and was found to be unsafe It was at that time impossible to make repairs, so strict orders were given that when there was a crowd in the East Room there should be no moving of furniture or rapid movements of any kind in the apartments above Every precaution was taken to insure safety, and, fortunately, with success but, as soon as the President and family vacated the house, repairs were begun in the grand East room. The ceiling and plastering of the walls were torn away, the girders were strengthened, and now four Corinthian columns two on each side of the room—support beams which in their turn help to support the ceiling These columns are placed one on either side the large central double window facing east, and one on either side of the double door opposite, leading into the hall into which the doors of the Red, Blue and Green Rooms, and the State dining room, open, and from which ascends the staircase leading to the private apartments occupied by the President's family.

THE LARGEST ROOM IN THE COUNTRY

The repairs of the East Room and the new upholstering of that vast apartment, are now approaching completion and on New Year's the public will first see the improvements made With the exception of the public halls, to be rented to those who can pay for them, I believe I am correct in saying that the East Room is the largest room in the United States It measures 100 feet in depth by 40 in width, and has a ceiling 23 feet in height When, as has been the case, medallion carpets have been made for it, I am told they were the largest ever manufactured in a single piece The superiority of the East Room in size is often disputed Last summer at Saratoga, I was allowed by special favor to see John Morrissey's 'Club-house.' To my amazement I heard the statement made that the grand saloon there was the largest in the United States, and when I claimed for the East Room the first place in size, I was not believed. Nevertheless, though I have seen many show places, I persist in assigning to the grand suite at the White House the first place in size, beauty, and elegance of appointment.

KEEPING WITHIN THE APPROPRIATION

Since the repairs have been made there are few apartments, if any, which can contest the claim of the East Room to be the most magnificent in our country The repairs were absolutely necessary, and there was yet another necessity to make the room in keeping with what was expected of it, and yet not to exceed the means afforded by a scanty appropriation In a word, it was essential to produce a handsome room, and yet, to use vulgar language, to "cut the goods according to the cloth" To have the ceiling frescoed and the walls tinted was manifestly impossible under the circumstances. To accomplish this would have necessitated the employ of skilled labor for a considerable length of time, the space to be covered being immense Therefore Gen Babcock was forced to do the best thing possible under the circumstances—make the room safe make it handsome, and yet keep the expense within the prescribed limits Gold leaf with white paint is showy—can, with discretion be made elegant—and still, because workmen of ordinary ability can apply it, be made tolerably cheap. So white and gold were chosen as the chief ornamentation of the East room Tinting the walls would have been very expensive, and in lieu thereof a delicate shade of gray paper was chosen, relieved with what is called mache work On this figures are shown in relief, and after a delicate application of gold leaf this presents an elegant appearance, The cornice, four inches deep, which runs around the room, and the chain bordering of the same depth, are beautifully carved, the white paint and gold leaf throwing the carving into high relief There are four large mantels, having the white and gilt decorations, and the frames to the eight immense mirrors are in keeping, as are the pier tables, two of which are at either end of the room The ceiling now has three divisions, the central one being painted with a gray ground, upon which appear blue and gold stars, and the others consisting each of a ceiling of gray, with a large center highly ornamented with gold leaf and a bordering, and corner pieces of the same Pendants from these centres, and that of the central division, are three immense chandeliers of silver and crystal with three tiers and burning each, with shades, making thirty six in all Twelve more lights are concealed beneath, and their brilliancy is enhanced by a crystal reflector of a conical shape above a plate-glass mirror The velvet carpet is the only thing about the room which is not new It was purchased last year, and although it is not in keeping with the style of the room, it is nevertheless a rich carpet Crimson is the prevailing color in it

THE FURNITURE AND HANGINGS

It was necessary to practice economy in purchasing the furniture as many pieces were needed for so large a room The old furniture was stiff and cumbersome and as there was no special interest attached to it, it was sold and it is replaced by the modern style of soft rep sofas and chairs, which show no frame work and are dangerously luxurious The gray color with wide bordering of a ruff of maroon velvet subdues the predominating white and gold which prevails in the room Opposite the large folding doors all the doors of the suite or parlors are highly polished mahogany is a double window that looks magnificent with its drapery of white lace and outside curtains of gray satin lined with canary colored silesia All the windows in the room for there are three at each end beside the one mentioned have the lace curtains with gray satin falling over them Upon the gray ground of the curtains is a wide border of maroon velvet which has, at equal distances rosettes composed of a large black satin button with corder of gimp of variegated colors A heavy cord of variegated tints borders the curtains and a deep rope fringe falls from the lower edges The cornices extend entirely across the room at each end as also do the lambrequins, which are of the heavy variegated fringe with diamond shaped ornaments made of gimp and drops of variegated hues The curtains are fastened back with beautiful cords which are kept in place by large rosettes of white and gold, which are fastened to the window frames

THE MANTELS

The tops of the mantel pieces are of highly polished mahogany supported by brackets of carved oak leaves The slabs beneath the four mirrors between the windows are of gray marble Beneath the four mantels (above which are large mirrors) are highly burnished fire pieces of brass, which are also used as registers to admit or exclude the furnace heat

THE PAINTINGS

The portraits of Ex-Presidents and other celebrities which formerly adorned the East Room have now been removed as no two of these portraits were of the same size and the frames of all of them needed regilding Four of the portraits have been placed in the Green Room—those of Washington [illegible] Lincoln [illegible] [illegible] and Scott The latter is the private property of President Grant In the grand vestibule are placed the portraits of Adams Van Buren Tyler Pierce and Polk

[illegible] new with blue [illegible] remaining [illegible] curtains are also of silk [illegible] with rich lace curtains as before [illegible]

Exchange on San Francisco at par

Wheat in Liverpool by mail advices from San Francisco—Average California, 13s 9d@ 13s club 14s@14s 3d

Latest reports from the Eastern cities denote a decided improvement in monetary circles as related to commerce, though the national finances are hardly reckoned as so promising About thirteen months ago Mr Boutwell estimated the receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1874 at $320 300 000 and the expenditures at $286 600 000 leaving a surplus of $33,700 000 There has been no reduction of taxation since and yet the present estimates for the same year indicate a total of ordinary receipts of only $269 000 000 while the expenditures are expected to rise to $289 000 000

Two wholesome features are noticed in the news from strictly commercial sources as to the improvement in the Eastern money market During the month of December bank notes accumulated in New York in very considerable amounts but they are now no longer in so plentiful supply as to overload the banks or disturb the monetary movements Three weeks ago currency was supplied at one-eighth per cent discount but it is now held at par A considerable sum of currency has found its way to the south and west to move the crops There has also been a notable improvement in the bank reserves The New York banks now hold over $40 000,000 in greenbacks Good reserves generally indicate sound business and this assiduity of the banks in strengthening themselves is a favorable augury

Important Decisions.

The Supreme Court of the United States has within a short time past rendered five decisions which are of considerable importance as related to the question of local taxation The first of these decisions denies the right of States to tax imported goods in the original packages on the ground that the right to import carries with it an unrestricted right to sell The second denies the right of States to tax national property or the national credit (bonds), on the ground that the right to tax carries with it the right to destroy The third decides that the port of registry of a vessel is its proper domicile for purposes of State taxation; the fourth denies to States the power to tax bills of lading and all forms of commercial paper between States as a restriction on domestic commerce and the fifth denies extra territorial operation to the tax laws of a State, and under that head denies the right of a State to tax a corporation on its bonds or stock or their coupons which are held out of the Commonwealth All these decisions are of general public interest and consequence

Large Profits.

As giving an idea of the great profits which are realized by shipowners we publish the following synopsis of a statement authorized by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company of estimated profits of the line between San Francisco and China

Costs of 24 round trips to China, or an annual milage of 576 000 miles operating expenses	$2 100 000
Add liberal estimate for office expenditures, shore expenses increased cost of coal on Pacific, etc	900 000
Total operating expenses	$3 000 000

The net earnings of the Company would then be

Gross earnings last year	$7 000 000
Subsidy for a semi monthly line	500 000
Total anticipated receipts	$7 500 000
Deduct operating expenses	3 000 000
Anticipated net earnings, equal to 29 per cent dividend on stock	$[illegible] 500 000

If the subsidy were deducted there would still remain a net gain on the business of the year amounting to $3 800 000

Our Wheat Surplus.

The Board of Exchange in San Francisco appointed a committee to take stock of the Grain held in the State of California on the first of the present month. That committee now report that there are still on hand 158,250 tons or about 3 500 000 centals. As we have no such facilities in Oregon for determining the amount yet the following information from the most reliable data to be had is very nearly correct The product of six of the counties named is from the estimates of the correspondent of the OREGONIAN, who has personally visited the principal Wheat-growing sections of the State and will be found sufficiently near the exact figures for any practical purposes The amount of 600 000 bushels in the counties south of Lane is obtained from parties who have gathered the information by careful observation The 650 000 bushels in Eastern Oregon is estimated by gentlemen familiar with that section and the acreage and yield there in 1873 The quota in Clackamas and Washington counties is reckoned from receipts at this point and at Oregon City from those sources and from observations of good judges who have traversed those counties The estimates are of the surplus over and above the requirements for home consumption and for seed and are as follows

Districts	Bushels
Linn county	1 [illegible]00 000
Marion	592 950
Polk	550 000
Lane	600 000
Yamhill	486 717
Benton	[illegible]31 000
Clackamas	17[illegible] 000
Washington	225 000
Counties south of Lane	600 000
Eastern counties	650,000
Total	5 468 6[illegible]

The shipments actually made since the beginning of the current harvest year are about as follows, counting the flour in its equivalent of wheat five bushels to the barrel

Destination		Bushels
To foreign ports in wheat		1 105 [illegible]0
	flour	187 500
San Francisco in wheat		1[illegible]
	flour	[illegible]
other ports		11 2[illegible]0
Total shipments		[illegible]

Which deducted from the surplus of the State would leave in the hands of farmers exporters milling companies and others the amount of 3 [illegible] 172 bushels This amount looks extremely large but it must be remembered that it embraces all yet held and not actually required for home use in our entire State It may be safely expected that of this 650,000 bushels in Eastern Oregon and as much in the southern counties will not reach this place and that as heretofore a very considerable portion in all parts of the State will be carried over to another harvest. But good reason exists to believe that 2 000 000 bushels (wheat and flour) could now be had for shipment were prices adequate and transportation facilities at hand The average size of the ships coming to our port is rather less than 1 000 tons carrying capacity but reckoning at that figure would require 60 ships yet to take away the 2 000 000 bushels This much of the surplus we believe will be worked off by the incoming of another harvest should the markets of demand justify such prices as now generally prevail

Our estimate of the actual surplus may be considered large by those who predicted from 3 000 000 to 4 000 000 bushels early in the season but these predictions are now generally admitted to have been far below the actual result

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances disposition to shun society, loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath, coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case, symptoms length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Post-office or through Wells Fargo & Co a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure

Address DR. J F GIBBON 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial San Francisco Postoffice Box 1 957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN jy6d&p
